

APPEARANCE

Apperance

The contextual analysis effectively determines that the development should be low density and follow the form of a traditional hamlet with meandering routes characterised by rich landscaping and largely detached dwellings sat beyond a frontage landscape event.

The variety of house types and the topography will create varied ridge lines and add to the sensation of housing sat WITHIN a landscape.

